Description:

The AHN Neurosurgery department is hosting a resident-led, virtual course geared towards third year medical students to help prepare for their sub-I's in Neurosurgery.

The course is open to medical students across all years with an interest in neurosurgery and will include everything you need to know to succeed in your sub-I's, such as, neuroanatomy, neuroradiology, neurocritical care, management strategies, and expectations of a sub-I.

Join us if you want to shine in your sub-I's, learn about neurosurgery, meet our residents at AHN, and/or ask any other questions you might have.
